

LampsUSA.com Invites Residents to “Bring-Back-the-Box”

As part of their “Bring-Back-the-Box” campaign LampsUSA.com is now offering Jefferson County residents free recycling on Styrofoam and cardboard. Residents can drop off these unwanted items at the LampsUSA.com headquarters. LampsUSA.com hopes to cut its waste-stream content up to 90%.

Watertown, Wis. (August 9th, 2011) – LampsUSA.com invites residents to “Bring-Back-the-Box” to help reduce landfill waste. LampsUSA.com re-uses Styrofoam and recycles cardboard in an effort to reduce our waste-stream content up to 90%. Now as a free service, LampsUSA.com customers (and future customers ☺) will be able to drop off their clean* Styrofoam, cardboard, and CFL bulbs. (*Clean means non-medical, indoor foam that has never touched food.)

“To achieve our goal of reducing the amount of materials headed to landfills by up to 90%, we have invested in equipment that enables LampsUSA.com to reuse Styrofoam and recycle cardboard. It only makes sense to extend this benefit to customers”, states Steve Brielmaier, LampsUSA.com president.

Brielmaier continued, “To reduce breakage, many products today come packed in Styrofoam, which, due to their unique molded shapes, are difficult to re-use. We are able to reduce this foam into clean 1 inch cubes, which can be used over and over.” These cubes are perfect for protecting lampshades and lighting shipped via FedEx or UPS. LampsUSA.com ships hundreds of packages each week to customers across America who purchase online at www.LampsUSA.com.

LampsUSA.com moved its headquarters to Watertown from Madison in July, 2011.
